What is this resource and how do I use it?

Simply print the sheet, grab some colouring pencils and find some number bonds! Discuss patterns that you see in the bonds. Can your child notice any patterns which are similar to their number bonds to 10? Colouring activities can inspire reluctant mathematicians, bring about a sense of calm and are great fun!

What skills does this practise?

Mental Addition

Number Patterns

Fine Motor Control

Why not laminate the sheet or cover it in sticky back plastic and use a wipe clean pen, so you can use this resource over and over? This fun Shopping Game can also help practise number bonds to 100 with a bit of role play. If your child enjoyed this colouring sheet, why not check out these Colour by Number Bonds sheets to reinforce numbers bonds to 10, 20 and 50?

Colour by Number Bonds - Bonds to 100

We are going to practise your number bonds to 100. Simply colour in any number bonds which appear next to each other horizontally (use a yellow colouring pencil or felt-tip pen, if you have it). Once you have found all of the number bonds, a shape will be revealed.

The first one is done for you. $40 + 60 = 100$, so those squares have been coloured in.
